Subject: Planning and Zoning

Mayor Hill,

Greetings.

Just a brief note to express my interest in serving on the Edgewood Planning and Zoning Commission. It is my desire to be of service and assistance wherever it is needed in the town of Edgewood.

I have been a Pastor for 46 years and now serve as Associate Pastor at Valley View Christian Church, Edgewood, New Mexico. Wherever I have pastored and in whatever city I have served, I have desired to serve the local community. So some of my previous experience has been serving on School Boards, Mayor commissions, Economic Development commissions, Drug and Alcohol Committees and other related teams dealing with community improvement.

Thank you for your consideration of me for this opportunity to serve,

--
Leonard

Commission Bio - January 2014

Brad Gabel

Brad Gabel received his B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Oregon State University, and spent the first 20 years of his career performing circuit design, system validation and security engineering for major integrated circuit companies including Motorola, National Semiconductor and Intel Corporation. In 2002, he accepted a senior staff position at Sandia National Laboratories conducting functional assessments on U.S. defense projects, and in 2012 took an engineering management position overseeing research activities in that same organization.

Brad has been married to Janice for 33 years, and they have two grown sons Ryan and Jason. They have lived in New Mexico since 2002, and built a home at Sandia Airpark in Edgewood where they have lived since 2008. He enjoys snow skiing, is a private pilot, and has an on-going project of building a homebuilt single-engine airplane. Brad was initially appointed as a member of the Town of Edgewood Planning & Zoning Commission in 2012, and currently serves as its' chairperson.
